

Austin NARI Community Service Project 2018

High Hopes Sports & After School

High Hopes Sports & After School is a Christian after-care and summer camp program for elementary-aged kids. Their mission is to lead change in their community by providing help, hope and healing through sports and education in a loving, Christian Program to people of every culture and spiritual background.

Considering the need for increased security in their school, High Hopes needed a remodel to help protect the children. When you entered the school there was no safety measures to stop the public to have access to the kids. This 7,000 square foot building needed a little of Austin-NARI touch!

Austin NARI came up with a plan to build a security wall with an electronic security entrance for the safety of the children. Then we designed a nice lobby area in the front with new cabinets. Fresh paint on the walls and new LED lights brighten the space. Leaky windows and CMU walls were sealed to keep the rain out as well as many other “honey-do” items were taken off their list, like adding shelves in closet for better storage organization.

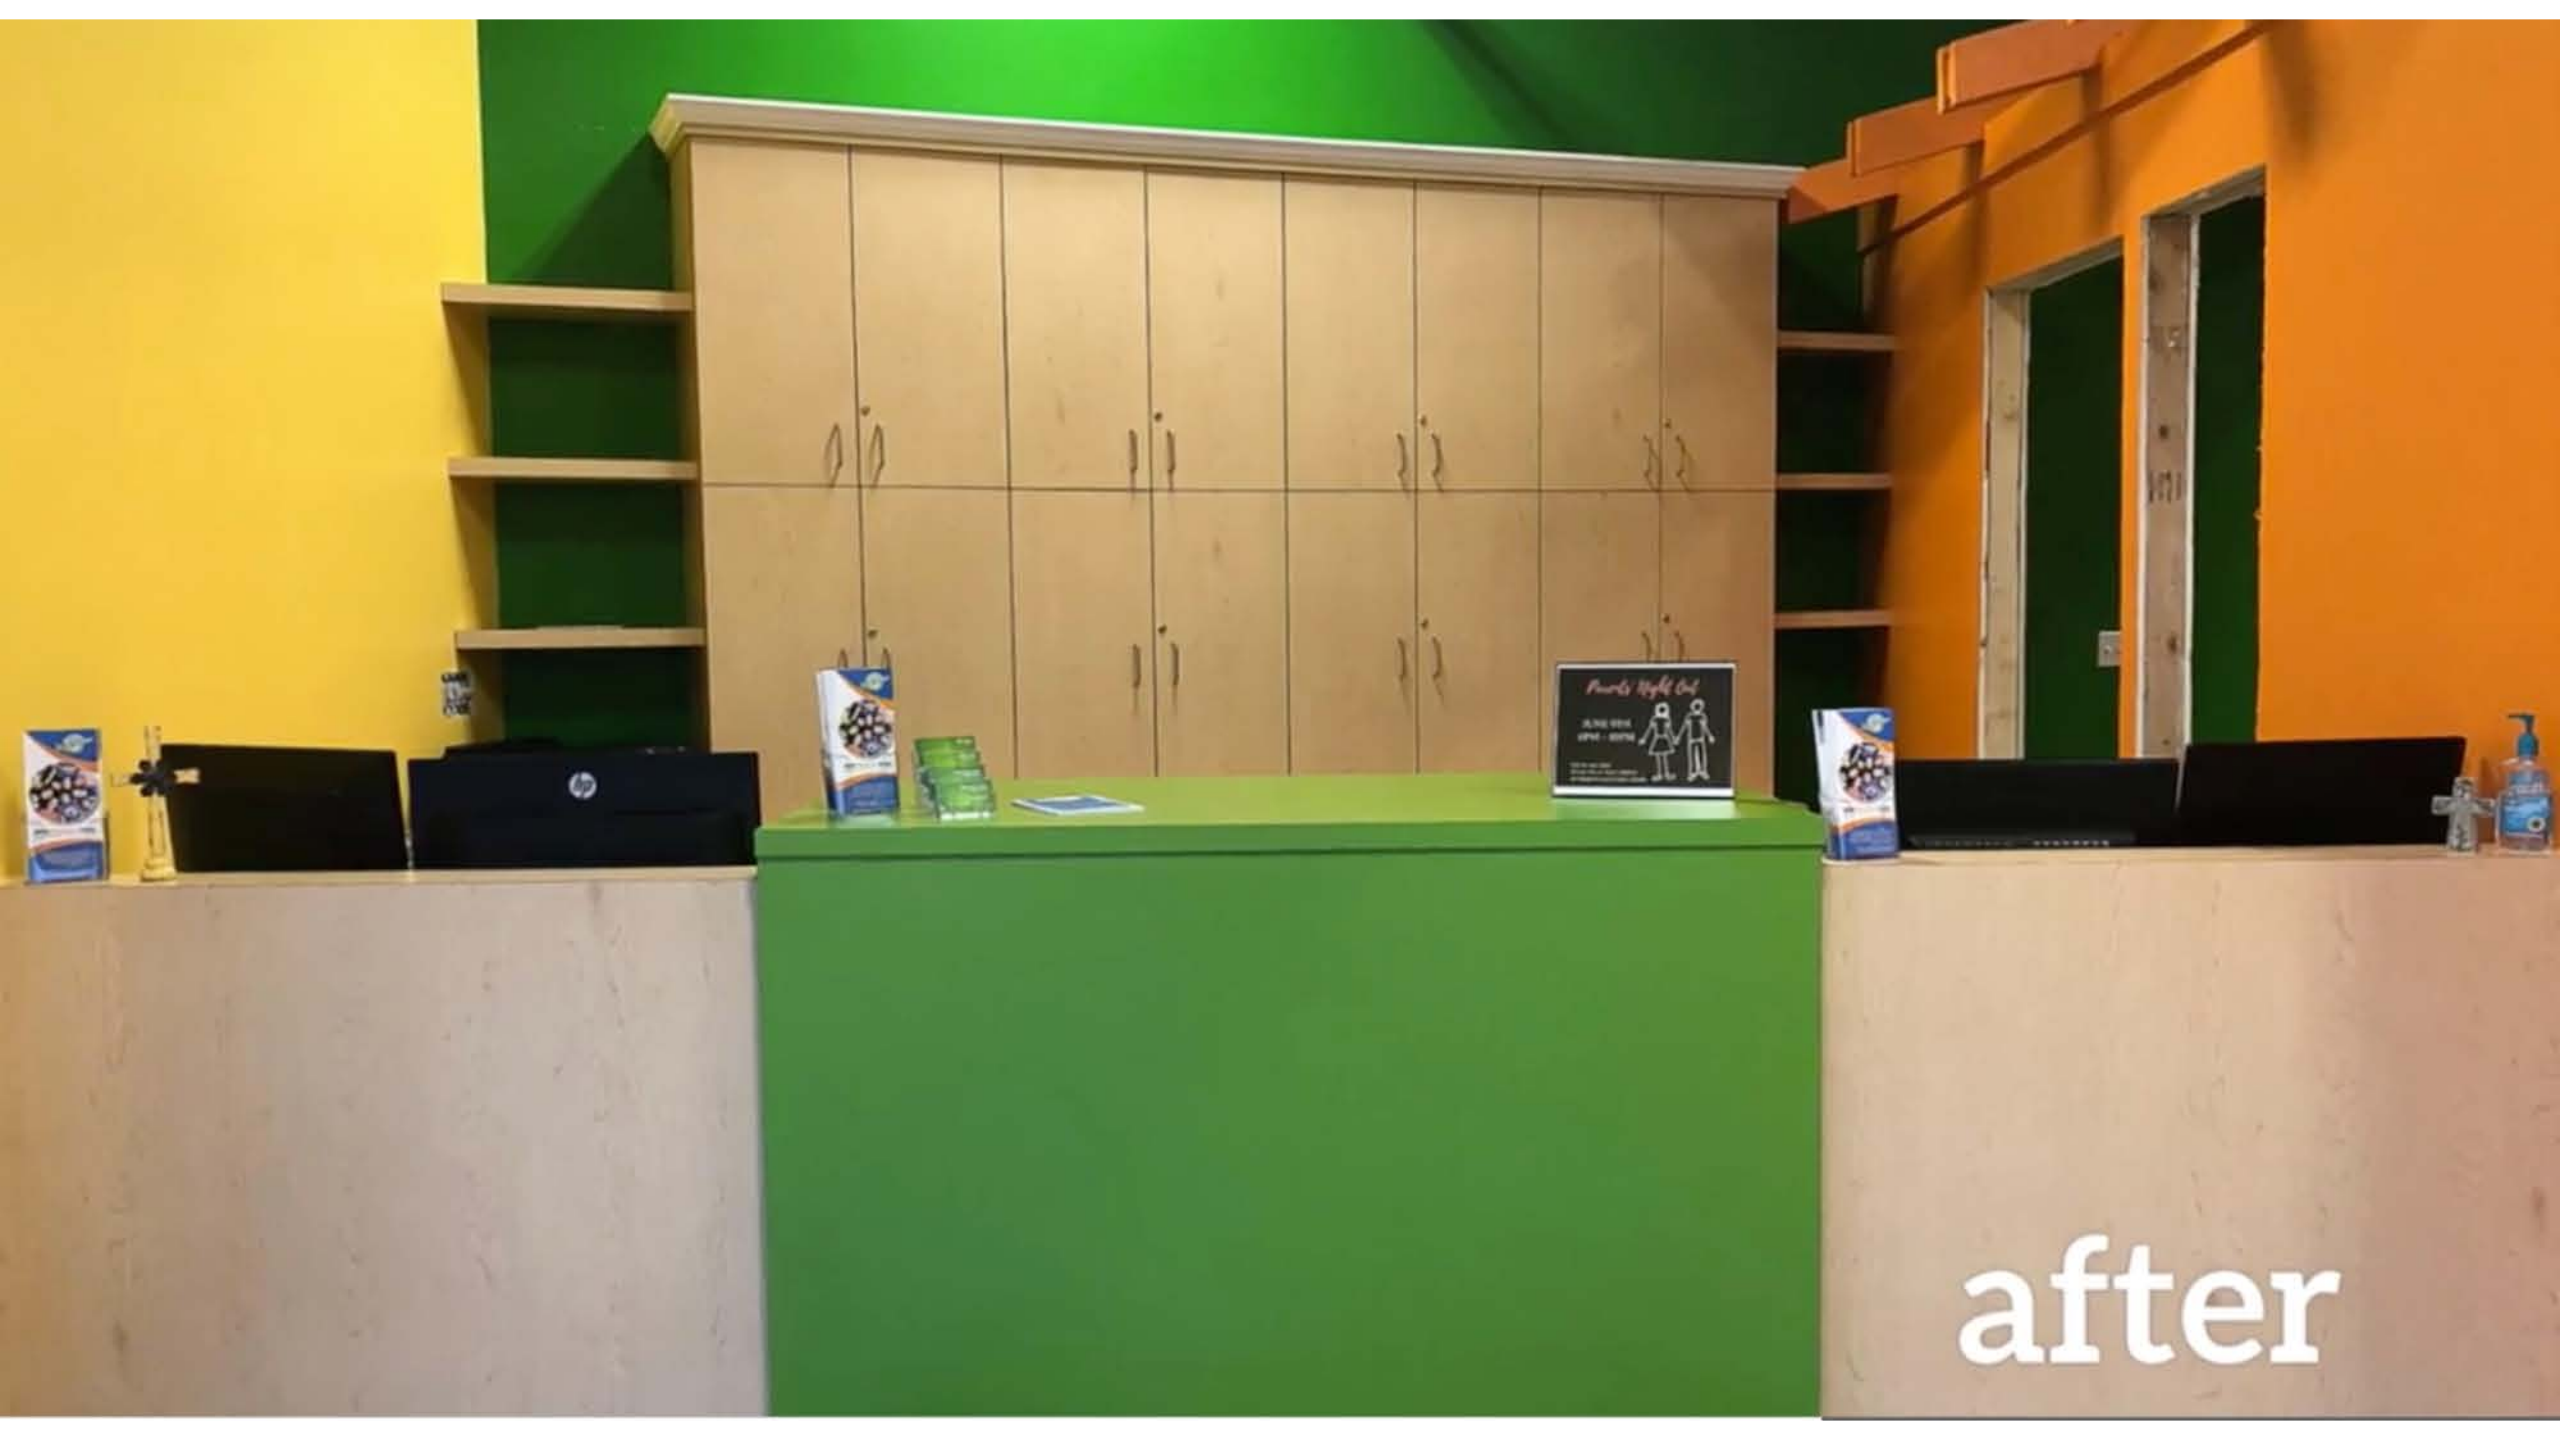

But the best of all ~ was the big surprise. After all the generous contributions of the Austin NARI Team ~ we ended up installing new porcelain counter tops with brand new cabinets for the kitchen!

This small $20,000 projected ended with “little smiling faces” and parents that feel at ease when leaving their children...along with happy staff members working in a great new kitchen!
