

2021 Lifetime Achievement Award

This person attributes his success in the remodeling industry to his interpersonal skills, which have allowed him to effectively communicate with clients and employees; listen when needed; and most important, problem solve. He started his own contracting business at 29 years old and, with professional growth in mind, joined NARI a year later in 2009. Since then, this person has dedicated years to serving NARI locally and nationally. He was the Education Chair of his local chapter and served on multiple committees there. He has also volunteered through his chapter's Community Service Committee and the Ronald McDonald House Project. He has served on multiple National committees and was the Bylaws/Ethics Committee Chair. He has served on the National Executive Committee in every officer position and most recently as Board Chair. His dedication to remodeling done right has earned him multiple local, regional and national contractor of the year awards as well as winning the National John Quaregna award.

Please join me in honoring Robi Kirsric, MCKBR, UDCP, with the 2021 Lifetime Achievement Award.
